

WE ARE HIRING

SEASONAL ECOLOGIST

Job description

Ascerta is looking to recruit a number of seasonal ecologists to help our friendly team with our busy workload throughout the summer months (May through to the end of September). The role will primarily involve assisting with surveys for bats, although there may also be opportunities to help on other types of surveys if required.

You will need to be reliable, have a full driving licence, access to your own vehicle and have some experience of ecology surveying, good observational and recording skills, willingness to survey sites in locations and at times consistent with ecological survey requirements, excellent time management skills and a positive outlook.

Most of our work is in the north west of England, however there may be occasional need to travel further afield as projects require.

For further information please send us your CV and Cover Letter and we'll be in touch.
